

Myths, stereotypes and urban legends

Ketevan Tsalughelashvili

Tbilisi

2016

Myths, stereotypes and urban legends

How can all black people be lazy if they're all extremely athletic?

How can all black people spend the majority of their time running if they're supposed to be inside singing?

Let's discuss some of them

Black People Make Everything About Race

Whenever there's a problem or something seems unfair, black people blame it all on the color of their skin, don't they?

All Black People Can Sing

... most of us will only be famous for singing in the shower!

All Black People Run Fast

Usain Bolt is one in a million, not one in three.

All Black People Look Alike

And if you let ABC tell it, Bill Russell and Morgan Freeman are one in the same.

Black People Have Smaller Brains

One of the world's first scholarly hubs was in Mali, West Africa—best known for its book trading and idea exchange.

